“ I have so many fond memories. I like , Mike Gelbman was affectionately known as Schmuck. I will never forget the day he and my father came up to MSU to build a loft for Joel and I. The three stooges couldn't have done worse than us. Seeing him in his underwear and running up the stairs left me scared for life. He was rough around the edges, but one of the kindest, softest hearted, loving and most generous people I have ever met. I will miss the shrimp.
Love you Mr. Ben-Moche

“ I loved Acher like a brother. We argued and laughed together. Shelley and I shared their simchas as only family would. We will continue to stay close to Libby and her family, our family. Ed Kohl

“ Al Ben-Moche was a passionate man. He was passionate about his home, his work, his religion, his friends and family and his wife Libby.

Al was passionate about his home. He and Libby have been our next door neighbors for the last 31 years. Every spring we would see Al come home from eastern market with the car loaded with flats and baskets of flowers. I couldn't imagine where he could plant all those flowers, then the next weekend he would come home with more flowers and plants. There were never enough flowers for Al. He was passionate about his work. He was a self made man. Life wasn't always easy for Al and business had its ups and downs over the years but Al prospered thru good and bad times and provided well for his family.

Al loved his religion. The Jewish faith was a center point of his life. Al was passionate in support of his family and friends. If you were Al's friend he would be there for you. He loved his grandchildren, his son and daughter, their families and his wife Libby and was proud of all their accomplishments.

Al loved life and lived it with passion.
