Aida Meizlish, age 82, of Beverly Hills, died on May 25, 2024.

Beloved wife of the late Sheldon Meizlish.

Devoted mother of Louie (Erin Miller) Meizlish.

Adoring grandmother to her "precious" Max Meizlish and Joanie Meizlish.

Dear sister and sister-in-law of Berta (the late Gabriel) Sava and Leonard (the late Naomi) (the late Karen) Meizlish.

Born, raised, and educated in Buenos Aires, Aida arrived in Detroit in 1970 with a medical degree but without knowledge of the English language. She nevertheless quickly established herself as a trusted pediatrician to countless families in the Metropolitan Detroit area, and built a family that came to include that of her daughter-in-law, including James Miller Jr. and Christine Fecteau. In retirement, she discovered a passion for teaching Spanish, and made numerous treasured friendships along the way.

The family wishes to thank her many beautiful friends who helped care for her in her final days.

“ Aida's passing is a loss to all of us. Thank you Louie and Leonard for such wonderful remarks highlighting how she stood out in so many ways. Although my family is far away, my time with your family continues to be very special. Louie, you said it, that you will not forget or stop hurting. Keep telling the stories about Aida & Sheldon, and they will stay alive in your hearts. May her memory be a blessing.

“ Initially Aida was my Spanish teacher and a wonderful teacher she was. But over time she became a very dear and trusted friend. She was the most optimistic person I have ever known and a constant source of strength and encouragement to me. I love her very much and will hold her in my heart forever.

Aida and I became friends at Beaumont Hospital. We were roommates. We hit it off tight from the start. We had many phone conversations. When we spoke after leaving Beaumont, she told me about a spot on her lung. I told her I had breast cancer. I think that is why she never told me about the second return, or the third. I was stunned when I spoke with Louie. She was a great Ladv, and Friend. Condolences to all the family. I will miss her. Her friend Vicky.
