“ There's so much you can say about Florence. Together with Sam, she raised a lovely, loving family. Her love extended beyond her family and into the community at large through participation in service and loyalty to her synagog family. Even though she was small in stature, her presence was large. She was strong in will and mind. She rose above obstacles. She was a joy to speak with about so many issues, She was an informed individual, she was well read and up on current events. Anytime I was with her she was encouraging, compassionate and loving. I will miss her. May her soul rest in peace.
