May 23, 2011

Age 95, died May 20, 2011. Resulting from the depression, Ida was sent to Secretarial School. She also became a skilled painter of Landscapes. An avid reader, she attended many lectures and became a member of the League of Women Voters. Even while living at Courtyard Manor for 7 years, she continued to vote. She assisted her husband with his retail pharmacy and when he became ill assisted in all details of his care. In later years, she became a very skilled bridge player and also taught bridge. She belonged to a variety of bridge clubs. Her hunger for learning directed her to take computer classes and she developed a keen interest in the History channel on T.V.
