“ He was my first friend when I came to united state in 1976 and I met him in Detroit Bahá'í Center. He rented to me one of his room in the second floor of an vtroberk drive apartment north of seven mile rd. I used to go with him to his Senegal and met Rabbi Vine who didn't believe in God. He wanted to become a Baha'i and I asked the Assembly. They interviewed him and asked him do you believe in Bahauallah and then they asked him do you believe in the Bab and ... all the way to Moses and he said yes. Then they asked him do you believe in God and he said no, they asked him why? He said all the prophets existed at one time, but God does not exist he is created by men's mind and he mentioned the einstein equation of $E=mc^2$ that mass and energy are related and I think he meant that God is energy but however the assembly rejected him and said that he has to investigate more. I felt sorry for him, now I believe that he was right and God is energy. May God forgive him, because he was a good man.
