I have been friends with Jackie since 2001. We spent many Friday nights together going to Synagogue in Palm Desert. We went on a cruise together and the last visit we had together was 3 years ago when she stayed at my home in Las Vegas. I have been in touch with her all along after she moved to Oak Park MI. Lately I had contact with her through her wonderful daughter in law Shari. I miss her. Judith Aner Las Vegas Nevada

“ My mother grew up with Jackie, but I met her much later in Palm Desert. My family became very close with her and my brother became her driver all over Southern California for her work. My brother has more stories but I wanted to share something. I last saw Jackie after she moved back to Michigan and was living in Oak Park. When I went home to visit, my sister and I stopped to visit her. We loved her and will surely miss her.

“ I have many warm memories of my dear Aunt Jackie, but the earliest is still one of the strongest. When I was about 3 she took me to my first movie. It was the Wizard of Oz, and between the flying monkeys and the Wicked Witch of the West, I didn't sleep for about a month. Of course I forgave her long ago. May her memory be a blessing.

Judy. We must have gone to that movie together and while I had nightmares from the flying monkeys, that became my favorite movie of all time. Now, The Portrait of Dorian Gray was another story. The best, however, was when a little girl on the block hit me on the head with a hammer and Aunt Jackie grabbed her by her ankles and bounced her head on the sidewalk! That kid never came near me again. The fierce Smolinsky sisters were great protectors. As brother Mark said, may her memory be a blessing.
