“ We were dormmates together at U of M. I remember Jim as always the guy we looked up to, for his good sense, martial arts, humour and wonderful repertoire on the guitar. And especially one evening in the common room when he sang a particularly ribald ballad and as the house mother walked in, not missing a beat, found a church appropriate line with which to end the stanza. What a lovely guy, warms my heart to think of him, lo these many years past.
