“ I knew Joel at SL but didn't see him often. He walked into the music room one day while I was sitting at the piano. I played a pretty cheesy version of “Gonna Fly Now” from Rocky. Given his musical skill I thought he'd laugh but instead he said he dug it! Made me feel good. I'll always remember him as a kind dude with a big smile. I'm sure he will be greatly missed by many who will rock on in his memory. My deepest condolences to his family and friends.

“ My husband and I hosted many Dungeon and Dragon Games at our home and came to know Joel well. He was so talented and a pleasure to talk with. Our sons, Michael, Jonathon and Matthew Hoff are all saddened by this loss. May Joel's memory always be a Blessing to all that mourn his tragic loss.

“ This is a post no one ever wants to write. 😞

My dear brother Joel passed away in the early morning hours on Monday, August 24. It was unexpected and natural causes.

We are heart broken, shocked and devastated. 💔

The lock down due to coronavirus was hard on him earlier this year. But he persevered and adjusted like everyone else. Participating in zoom open mic nights instead of live open mic nights, etc.

He was an English professor by trade, guitar and poetry was his passion.

Watching him and his band Ruby Keeps Burning performing was amazing. I created the website for them which is still up with their original songs and pics. After RKB split up he formed a new band and was very active in the Detroit music scene performing regularly at 2 different open mic venues.

He was in really good spirits lately. So thankful when things started opening back up and he could participate in rehearsals, open mic nights and his Dungeon & Dragons game again.

He was active in the "Detroit will Breathe" movement. He had a bright future and was looking forward to teaching in the fall.

I am so thankful I just spent a wonderful day with him and my mom last week. We reminisced and took a walk to Vandenberg, our old elementary school. It was a beautiful day filled with laughs, and I am so grateful for that.

Please take a moment to read all the beautiful tributes to him on his wall and on the Hebrew Memorial website. It is a testament as to how many people he has inspired and influenced over the years.

I love you and miss you my dear brother. 💔🎸💜

“ Dawn,
I'm so sorry for your loss. My sister Jodi was good friends with Joel growing up back in the Vandenberg days. I watched the video of the service, and all that you said was so beautiful and touching. Rabbi Polter is a good friend of my family as well. My condolences go out to you, your mother, your father and all your relatives and friends. May Joel's memory be a blessing to all who knew him. Love, Keith Kingston

“ I was the Drum major at S/L. Joel was assigned to the drumline. Were he played Cymbals then bass drum. He was such big personality, I found out about his Guitar playing and asked,, OK, begged him to be my lead guitarist. Eventually he joined Eyes (our rock band) I killed during the solo in HELL IS FOR CHILDREN, by Pat Benetar. I'm on my drum set, in sheer aww if his talent and abilities to play nearly every song in our library. Just a true talent and great kid. My prayer to his mom & Pop and the rest of his family

“ I am so, so sad to hear this news, and my heart is heavy for the grief his family and friends carry. I hired Joel to work in the Writing Center at Henry Ford College this past Fall. Through his teaching and his work in the Writing Center, he had a tremendous impact on his students and his coworkers. Joel, you mirrored back to me the hope and promise I had for our Writing Center, and I will hold a space for you there always. I'd like to leave words from my favorite poet, Marie Howe: I am living, I remember you. We remember you, we miss you. Thank you, to Joel's family, for sharing him with us for a time.

“ Susan,
Please know that my prayers and thoughts are with you and your family.
Every time I saw Joel, he had the best smile on his face. He was always so nice to everyone around. I'm sure you will miss him.

“ Joel, you'll always be my captain. Whenever we greeted each other we would salute, that's how much you loved the hat. It was not until 43 years later out of the blue sky I stopped by Mainly to see Joel. I will never forget that day. you were special.

Susan there are no words that can express the sorrow all of us feel for your loss. No parent expects to out live their child. The only time I ever saw my father cry was when my sister (at the same age as your son) passed; too young. I am holding you and yours in my heart and prayers.

“ Joel I can't believe this is real. My guy you are great (and I say you are because I still have your Energy. The wisdom I received is some that will always keep with me. Man I am hurt. But the energy that is surrounding me right now, is telling me everything is ok. So I am going to give a light smile to the sky, because I know you're smiling down on us.

“ So I never had Joel as an instructor while attending DIME, but I had the pleasure of having many interactions with him at the New Way Open Mic. Joel sure could shred the guitar and you could expect to see him every Wednesday. So sorry for his family's loss, he genuinely was a great guy and the New Way Open Mic will just not be the same.

I have fond memories of listening to Joel and my Brother Keith talk around a fire in the clearing behind my Parents house. They were both deep thinkers and developed a lasting friendship even though Keith was his uncle.

Joel also became friends with my husband and at family get-togethers they would hang out together. That led to Joel becoming a friend to one of my Husbands friends. It seems he was always developing relationships.

Joel was always kind to me. I am going to miss him very much and only wish we had more time together.
