“ I realize this condolence message is late, but I wanted to express my sadness. I worked with Les in the ESOL (English as a Second Language) program in Prince George's County, MD. Les was a wonderful person: smart, caring, and always there to help. I was going through some old photos and just couldn't rest until I looked him up on the internet.

I love the photo that is on this site. It is so Les.

My sincere condolences to his family and friends.

“ I knew Les when I started working at Barry's. He would always be taking the orders which I would then make. He always asked how I was doing and would discuss the upcoming Jewish holidays with me. I enjoyed talking with him and he will be missed greatly.

“ I was so fortunate to have had the honour of meeting Uncle Les. In person, just the once, but over the phone on a number of occasions. He was wonderful company, a real gentleman and will be deeply, deeply missed by Sara, my wonderful partner, and her family.

I won't ever forget when we went out for lunch together and we shared a Godfather Cocktail, as well as a great meal. It was a lovely day.

Much love to you and my sincere condolences to your family at this time,

Les, much like his brother Barry had a heart of gold. He was an amazing listener and learner of both books and people. Like books, Les had this amazing ability to put a book mark on every conversation that he would have and be able to to pick right up the next time he saw you without forgetting a detail . He loved people and took a lot of time to listen and learn about each an everyone. He will be missed. Mike Sher

Les was one of the most caring individuals I've ever come across in my life. Truly and inspiration to anyone he came in contact with! A great listener..... we sure had some great talks.

I will treasure your friendship forever!!! I can only imagine when you arrived in heaven the look on your moms face, she will say: I finally got both boys together again. And of course Barry will say: it took you long enough. lol Rest in Peace my friend.

Les was my late father's best man and best childhood friend. Decades later, long after my father passed away, I had the honor and pleasure of becoming good friends myself with Les, just as I was starting my adult life. Les gave me something that no one else could give -- a direct and unadulterated connection to my father when he was around the same age that I was. And Les did so in the only way Les knew how -- incredibly pure, loving, and intelligent. Our friendship spanned into areas of humor, music, law, religion, travel, academics, and more. Les poured love and attention into me and my family for years, and it will forever remain with us. Thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

I just learned of the sad passing of Les Greenblatt. Les was one of the kindest and most loved teachers I have known. We worked together for many years when he was with the Prince George's County, Maryland, schools. I visited him once after he moved to Ann Arbor and also had a chance to see his brother and all his wonderful golden retrievers. We shared a love of dogs! I knew he was sick. I had planned to visit him, but he let me know that it wasn't a good time. He will always be in my thoughts.

We both were fortunate to have worked with Les in the Prince George's County school system. And, we enjoyed continuing to connect with him in person or by phone after he retired and moved back with family. The words used by others -- kind, gentle, intelligent, loving, respected, dedicated educator -- so describe Les. He was appreciated and respected by so many who were lucky enough to know him and call him a friend.

Today is May 5th, 2023 and I have just read your obituary. I am so sorry that I am so late in hearing of your passing. I am in shock. You were a bright day in my work life at the offices of Barry Bagels. Kind, funny and caring. You are proof that the good die sooner than those of us who aren't as shiny as a new mint penny. I so lucky I met you. Rest in Peace. But you truly left too soon.
