

MILDRED KORNHEISER

October 11, 2011

Mrs. Kornheiser was an avid bookworm, reading up to two novels and six subscription magazines including Newsweek and New Yorker every week. She believed in helping others, thus her passion for volunteering. It started with being a candy striper at Sinai Hospital, then City of Hope where she worked her way to become President of her chapter, to helping out at the gift shop at Danto's. In later years, when she could physically no longer volunteer, she contributed to numerous charities.

Funeral services at Hebrew Memorial Chapel in Oak Park.
