This man is the kindest, most honorable gentleman a wife could ever have. I will love him always.

“ I was a fraternity brother with Ralph at Carnegie-Mellon University. Ralph's spirit and focus were amazing. He could quote Roberts rules of order with a love for the written law that lasted his whole life.

A moment later, he could be the most jovial person in the room. I recall one autumn evening where Ralph sank a seated shot to a wastebasket across the room. The pumpkin fit perfectly in the trash can. He celebrated the accomplishment like it was the NBA championship. It was a feat he regaled often.

Rest well my friend.
