“ We are sorry about the passing of your loving mother, grandmother, great grandmother, and sister, Sally Mandel. Our family remembers Sally from Hillel Day School. Sally was always willing to jump in to volunteer, carpool, PTO, play dates, etc. She was a a terrific mom to Harleigh and Lillibeth. We know she loved each of you in her own special way. Her legacy is her cadre of caring friends and her loving family. May the tears you shed today turn into sweet memories tomorrow.--Anna, Yale, Tony, and Jennifer Levin

“ I liked that Auntie Sally was a career woman before she married. She trained in medical technology in western Michigan - a long way from Windsor, Ontario. Then she became a math teacher. Former students were still looking her up when she had long gone on to her third career of marriage and motherhood. I was the little flower girl at her wedding.

Sally was very devoted to her husband, my British-born Uncle Leslie. He desired that she set the table with multiple spoons/utensils/plates, a proper place setting for each meal. She was ordinarily pretty laid-back, but she did this for him.

Later, when I was in high school, I discovered the best place to go "shopping" for cool vintage clothing - Auntie Sally's legendary basement! Whatever the rest of the family meant to give away somehow ended up there.

Sally was friendly. she talked to strangers around her at an event and made new friends. And Auntie Sally sure could wear a hat - she was the best hat-wearer among the Sheinfeld sisters.

“ My auntie Sally was a wonderful, giving, and caring, woman. My memories of her are from my childhood. Lily, Harleigh, Floyd, and myself, spent many days at the house on Filmore place together. We played outside, in the backyard, running up and down the sidewalks, or trails, or we rode bicycles throughout the neighborhood. We had sleepovers. We made forts out of blankets and bedsheets. And we snuck into auntie Sally’s Magical, Wonderful, Snack Closet (Inside could be found chocolates, Pringles, licorice, ring dings which were the kosher version of dingdong’s, Fritos, fruit roll ups, and any other none nutritional snack you can think of). Whenever we came over to visit she made us feel like we were part of the family. Now, since my auntie Sally was a Shenfield woman, this meant she was part of the YELLING family, and therefore this meant that she yelled at us. She yelled for us to come in from outside for dinner. She yelled for us to stop making noise and go to sleep already. She yelled at us to stop breaking all the lamps in the house used to make our stupid forts. And she yelled at us to stop sneaking into her, Magical, Wonderful, Snack Closet (she always gave us as much as we wanted anyway). She Loved us and we Loved her. I will miss my auntie Sally very much.

“ A fine lady, a warm-hearted family member, a fixture at all family gatherings. I especially enjoyed my visits to her home over the years. May the memory of Sally Mandel be a blessing, and may the mourners be comforted by their fond memories.
