“ Three words rise above a flood of emotions as I think about Uncle Sid: Integrity, Humility, and Devotion. Anyone who knows him will understand why.

“ We are sorry for your loss. Our loss, too. We loved knowing Sidney, and learning about what he did about health care services in the city of Detroit from him. Jeff especially remembers how open and welcoming Sidney and Pearl were when he first came to Detroit 43 years ago and was needing a friendly Jewish face to give him some guidance about the city. Sidney (and Pearl) were our "family " in town, a connection made through knowing Larry (Chaim) at Maayan Zwi in Israel. Their warmth and community involvement were an example to us.
