“ Deepest condolences to Steve's family and friends.

Steve was a true pleasure to work with — kind, dedicated, and always bringing a smile to everyone in the office. His warmth, generosity, and positive spirit touched all of us, and he will be deeply missed.

“ BDE. Steve and Sherri were classmates of mine. We reunited our friendship for years when we both lived in Southfield. My late husband and I were godparents to Scott, and they were godparents to my eldest daughter. Our friendship unfortunately grew apart due to other reasons, but Steve always was kind and pleasant to me. He indeed had a very advanced sense of humor, which I appreciated greatly. May his memory be a blessing, and may his neshama forever rest in peace. I hope my husband greeted Steve when he got to Heaven. I'm certain their friendship will be eternally restored. Deepest condolences to Steve's family.

“ I always called him Mr. Cass. He told me "Mr. Cass was my Dad, call me Steve."

I met Steve in Karate. When he found out I was addicted to chocolate he brought me a chocolate pizza from his favorite confectionary in Ohio. He was very thoughtful, kind, funny and fiercely loved his family and friends. My sincerest condolences. May his memory be eternal.

“ Steve was such a nice guy. We got along very well. One of my all time favorite co-workers. Always enjoyed talking with him. We might start on a business subject, then go on for over an hour for everything else. He had such a great sense of humor. My condolences to the family. He will be missed. Joe Martin

“ I remember meeting Steve at work and didn't know he was Jewish like me. When Passover came around, I had forgotten to bring Matza for snacks and was walking the aisles. I saw Steve eating Matza and he shared. That started a great friendship, including being invited to the Kass house for several Seders. The Seders were not from the typical Haggadah as he found alternatives that included Abbot and Costello, baseball themes, etc. Typical Steve Kass humor.

He had a subtle sense of humor that I really appreciated. You really had to follow what he was saying in order to catch it.

The world has lost a gentle and caring soul.

“ He welcomed us into the family without hesitation, only asking the most important questions: “Do you like cheesecake, ice cream, or hot peppers?” That was Papa. He was always smiling, always ready with a cheesy joke, and always full of love. He truly was the best.

“ I sat across from Steve at work. Always funny and friendly. Back when we worked at an office together, he would bring in his unusual coins to show me, and sometimes desserts for everyone as well. He was a good friend.

I worked with for many years. Steve loved practical jokes.

His trickle down computer for our boss. Changing the keys in someone's computer. Always a smile. He will be missed.

“ My deepest heart felt thoughts are with you all in this time of loss. Every cliché I know comes to mind thinking of Steve and the years I have known him as a friend. Being in IT we used to commiserate over the phone and thru email, sometimes daily about the silliness of the world we chose to immerse ourselves into. Phrases that come to mind, man makes plans, God Laughs, old age is Gods way of paying us back for what we did as kids, except neither of us could remember anything that bad! He has traversed to a place of joy and laughter which is how we all should remember him. And when our electronics fail us in life we should remember Steve saying things like, 'they break', as have our hearts. May God wrap you in his arms and bring comfort to your hearts. Steve was my Brother. I know of no person with a bigger kinder heart, than Steve.

Everyone that knew him, would say the same thing.

"What you saw, is what you got."
