“ I met Mrs. Schreiber at Ford high school in 1970. I was her assistant. I stayed by her side and did everything she asked. Later on in life in became a special education teacher and art teacher for special needs adults. She was a great mentor and teacher. I was her assistant when she lost her husband. We all loved her and tried in our adolescent way to help her. She was a great inspiration to me. She was very gifted and extremely talented individual. She helped me as a teenager and I loved her.

It's amazing how someone humanizes one's talents. Not everyone has the luxury of acknowledging, nurturing and realizing one's talents. Yes, my mom was artistically talent. Likewise she spoke with a crisp articulation and her penmanship was eloquent as well. My mom had many talents that were exemplified by her crisp and articulate way of doing things.

“ When I started high school in Detroit, everyone was going through some turbulent times. I internalize everything and had ulcers at a young age of fifteen. My sister told me to take art and she got me a great teacher: Mrs. Schreiber. She saw something in me I never did and I won a few awards in art and gained some self esteem back. She had a compassion for her students and was always talking art everyday in class. She used teaching techniques that are still used to this day. Now she can meet the famous artists she always talked so highly about.

“ Sweet Em,
I'm so very sorry for your loss. No daughter ever was more loving and supporting of her mother. The tougher things got, the easier you made it look. I'm so proud of you.
I'm so sorry I can't physically be with you to honor your mom. Please, know that I'm with you in my heart and sending love from Florida. Chuck asked me to send his regards to you, as well.
I love you,
Linda
